ABOUT GTRA

The Government Technology Research Alliance (GTRA) is a non-profit organization comprised of public and private sector leaders dedicated to the development and success of the government IT community. GTRA provides multiple forum to collaborate, strategize and create innovative solutions for the common challenges facing the civilian, defense, and intelligence communities in areas including Infrastructure, Cyber Security, Enterprise Architecture, IT Reform and Leadership. By sharing best practices and lessons-learned, knowledge at the executive-level is exchanged among peers and results in actionable government-wide strategic plans to meet OMB, White House, DoD and agency-specific objectives/mandates.

ABOUT AWARDS

GTRA's "GOVTek Executive Government Technology Awards" gala is a celebration of government and industry IT leaders whose vision, innovation and remarkable accomplishments in 2011 have improved the way government delivers services, interacts with citizens, shares information, and protects its national assets.

Nominees from both Civilian/Defense/Intelligence agencies and industry will be evaluated and voted on by GTRA Council Members and their community peers and given recognition in the areas most relevant to government IT today including social media, infrastructure, leadership, cyber security, Green IT, and Transparency.
